Teach Yourself Indexing For RoboHELP Classic

Synopsis

This unique workbook with CD shows technical writers, help authors, and book indexers the ins and outs of indexing with RoboHELP Classic, as well as instruction in online indexing basics for those who need it. Why does a project with a table of contents and full text search need an index? What makes a good index? How do RoboHELP’s Index Designer and Smart Index Wizard affect the process? The book addresses these and other issues. It also includes detailed procedures, tricks and tips to make your indexing work less of a hassle, and helpful macros that are exclusively available on the accompanying CD. The book covers RoboHELP versions 7, 2000, and 9 and is suitable for classroom or individual use.

Bill Meisheid is one of those Renaissance men who is never just a little involved in what he's doing. Although he is primarily a RoboHELP trainer and not an indexer, he has delved deeply into not only the general principles of indexing but the specifics of indexing with RoboHELP. His workshops at the annual conference of the American Society of Indexers play to standing room only and he is well known as an informative and energetic presenter.That same informative and energetic style is also apparent in this, his most recent book. He has taken what might otherwise might have been just another dry-as-dust technical dissertation and created something that is not only technically informative, but entertaining to read.
